I did not recognize from that meeting that I was supposed to ask my Assessor to work on numbers. Sorry for not understanding correctly. I did see Steve calculate those numbers and put them on a worksheet.

As far as I know I am the only one that was asked to work on the numbers. This was my option/solution for going forward. This was presented at the last meeting (that you attended) and I was the only Assessor asked to show what the numbers would be. I am sure the Franklin County Assessor worked something up from his end but I wouldn't know. Since you were the only one from Grant County at the meeting I would say it was up to you to communicate with your Assessor if you wanted to see those numbers for Grant County. Not sure what you are implying but this is Benton County presenting the direction we will more than likely be going. Each County has their own agreement, but it would be better if we all used the same methodology.

I just found out that my Assessor was never contacted to calculate the open space/current use valuation numbers. At the last meeting, it was stated that each county would be asked to provide additional information but that could not come from me since I did not know exactly what information was to be asked for. Not sure why there was not a gathering of information before this meeting and someone wondering why Grant County had not turned in anything.

Also, since Adam has mentioned a current use/open space being brought to the table, do you have figures showing what your numbers are using this approach?
